THE ROAD TO RECOVERY

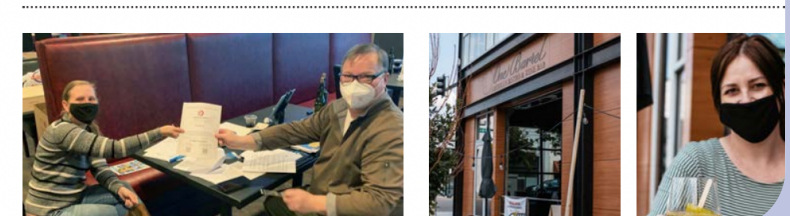

The City of Englewood's Economic Response to COVID-19

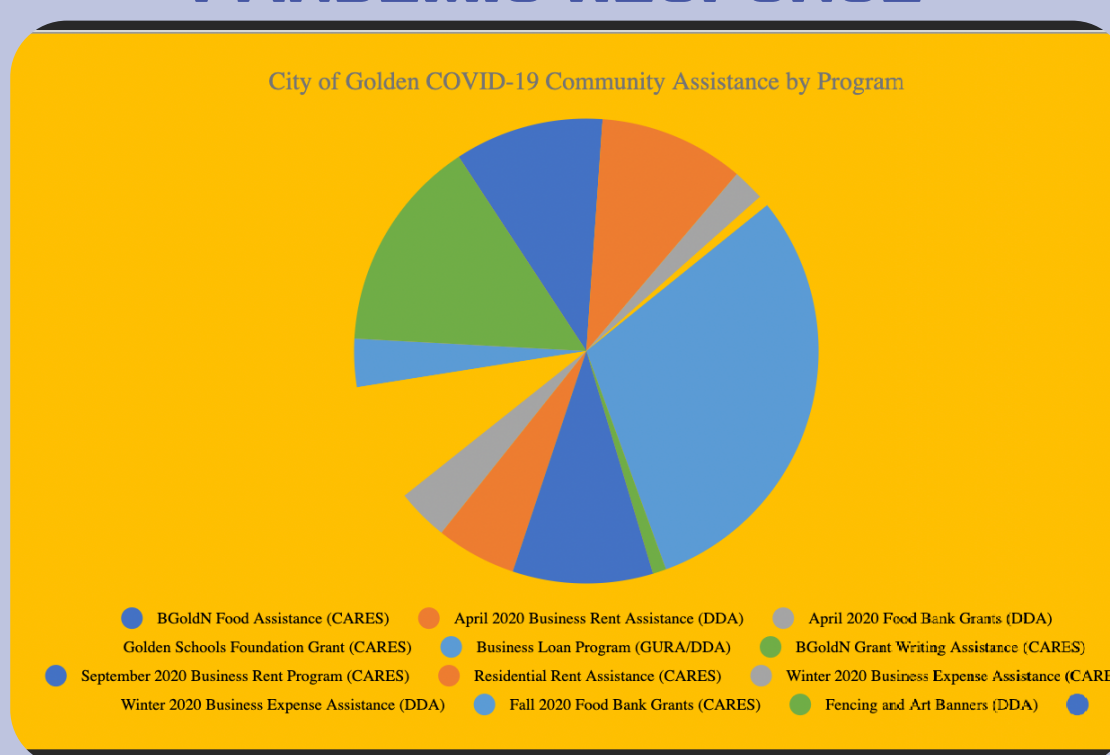

Othoniel Sierra
Mayor of Englewood

I'm proud of the continued support of the City of Englewood provided to our business

Within three business days of the Governor's March 2020 Public Health Order to close/restrict business operations, the City of Englewood re-focused the entirety of its economic development resources to provide COVID-19 relief to small businesses. Englewood City Council committed an additional $200,000 from the city budget to support COVID-19 business recovery initiatives. Throughout the pandemic Englewood introduced a variety of small business recovery and resiliency resources as a result of the unprecedented economic impacts of the COVID pandemic on small business. This program also served as a model to other jurisdictions in Colorado and economic development practitioners from other states.
